

John Belchers
Chief Financial Officer

John Belchers serves as Chief Financial Officer for Emptoris, Inc., overseeing all financial operations for the company, and is a key member of the company's executive management team, helping to guide the company's continued expansion and growth. Belchers previously served as CFO at four publicly-traded companies including, Gensym Corporation, a developer of business rules software solutions with $65 million in annual revenues, and Microprose, Inc., a software developer with $100 million in annual revenues. Prior to being appointed CFO of Emptoris, he most recently served as Executive Vice President and CFO of Dovebid, Inc., a leading on-demand seller of capital assets with $250 million in annual sales in North America, Europe and Asia. Belchers has managed and supported a number of Mergers & Acquisitions (M&A) transactions; led three successful Initial Public Offerings (IPO); managed significant acquisition integrations; and possesses significant international business experience specifically in the European and Asian markets. Prior to his finance positions, Belchers served as a general manager for a business consulting practice for Ernst & Young and as an audit partner for KPMG, a global accounting and consulting firm. Belchers holds qualifications as a Chartered Accountant and a Chartered Management Accountant, as well as a Bachelors in Business Science from the University of Cape Town.